WALKING WALKING CATERINA

THE BOOK

Caterina is a special child, who feels like a princess. In a full-moon evening, after a fight with her brother, she runs away from him to look for her prince. She takes a path behind her house and becomes a protagonist of an adventure full of surprises, music and magic in a maze made of boxes, doors to open, tests to pass and phenomena to explain. An enchanted world where each character “wears” notes, in a musical piece created specifically to accompany Caterina’s journey. Will our heroine succeed in finding her prince and go home?

THE AUTHORS

ELISABETTA GARILLI, texts. Pianist and composer, expert in music teaching and, for over 10 years, curator of reviews for families for the diffusion of classical and jazz music. She is the author of many musical performances and stories.

EMANUELA BUSSOLATI, illustrations. One of the most appreciated authors and illustrators for children. Expert in editorial design, currently works for many publishing houses in Italy and abroad.

Collana Painted music, a bit’ outlandish

Learning to read means learning to listen and empathy. Educating oneself in images means exploring space, shapes, tones, colors, rhythms... basically, the first steps towards understanding music. This series is the daring bet by an original musician with Carthusia, to accompany the little readers in different paths, where the sonority of words and the power of images will allow them to “listen” to the illustrations and to “watch” the music.
