

TINOTINO IS ALL OF US,
WITH HIS INNER VOICE
THAT LEADS HIM TO HIS GREATEST PASSION.

TINO TINO TINO TINA TIN TIN TIN

THE BOOK

Tinotino is a child with a burning passion for music. Any object is around him turns, in his head, into an instrument and makes a sound. As a grown-up, he would like to be a percussionist, but his father is worried and leads him to discover other trades. From the meeting between Elisabetta Garilli and Emanuela Bussolati, this illustrated book is born and brings the power to evoke music and sounds through words and images.

THE AUTHORS

ELISABETTA GARILLI, pianist and composer, expert in musical didactics and curator of the exhibition “Agora. Families and the city meet the music” of the Comune di Verona. She is author of many musical performances and stories.

EMANUELA BUSSOLATI, one of the most appreciated authors and illustrators for children. Expert in publishing design, she currently works for many publishing houses in Italy and abroad.

Series Painted music, a bit outlandish

With this series, Carthusia starts a new adventure, allowing the illustrated book to synchronize with the breath of music.

Through the sound of words and the liveliness of images, the young readers will learn to “listen” to images and “see” music.
