THE FIRST PAPER THEATRE IN PIRIPÙ LANGUAGE OF TARARÌ TARARERA...

PIRIPÙ FAMILY COMES ON STAGE WITH THE PAPER THEATRE OF TARARÌ TARARERA...

The stories of little Piripù Bibi, of his funny family and his best friend Gonende become a show.

Thanks to the small theatre with its coloured tables, illustrated by Emanuela Bussolati, on whose back is written the text of the story, you will be able to follow the adventure in Piripù language: a universal language made of voices, whispers and gabbles, to play and build up a complicity with no boundaries of comprehension, because the only things that matter are intonation, expressions and gesture.

The paper theatre comes from the japanese storytelling tradition, where the narrator reads and speaks while the spectator watches and listens. The small theatre is the perfect instrument for an animated reading, lively and funny, that can be made everywhere: at home, at school, in the library...
