

STUPIDORISICO

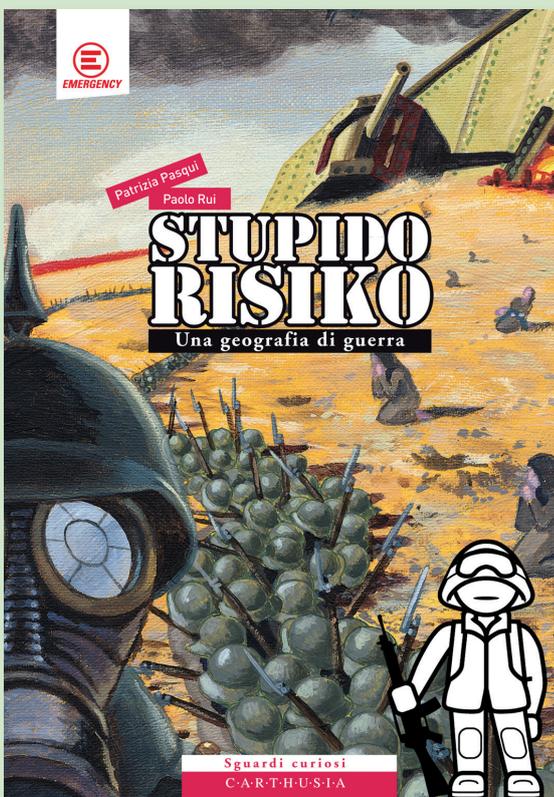

A geography of War

This volume is the result of the desire to create a book out of the stage performance of the same name, produced by Emergency and presented to great acclaim throughout Italy by the actor Mario Spallino.

The story, by Patrizia Pasqui, who is already a respected theatre playwright, is to be read all in one go and is designed to make young readers reflect on the themes of war (with an overview that goes from the Great War up to present day conflicts), human rights and solidarity. The narrative is accompanied by information charts and inserts, striking illustrations and end pages with suggestions for further individual reading.

Paperboard spiral bound volume of 44 pages, 4 posters • Closed format of 16 x 23 cm, open size 64 x 23 cm.

Age: from 9 years up • € 16,90

Texts: Patrizia Pasqui

Supervision: Museo Storico Italiano della Guerra

Illustrations: Paolo Rui

TOWARDS A CULTURE OF PEACE 4 ILLUSTRATED POSTERS

Emergency NGO

is an independent and neutral Italian association created to offer free high quality medical and surgical treatment to victims of wars, landmines and poverty.

Il Museo della Guerra

Opened at Rovereto in 1921 as one of the most important centres for gathering and storing information about the Great War, in the following decades it has expanded to include other conflicts from other historical periods. Together with the permanent exhibition, it also puts on displays, promotes research and studies, and edits publications.

Series: Curious glances

Books where the absorbing narrative is interwoven with information about civic education, astronomy, art, journeys around the area and much more besides.

Other titles in the series:

Between heart and sky

Pietro, Cesare, Vittoria Ligari
A family of artists

The trasures bridges

Monza from above, from below and even looking down

We are all under the same sky

Stories about women, men, stars, planets and moons

Garden colour command

Walking among sounds, smells and feelings through four enchanted artistic gardens

A lake full of stories

An inquisitive journey among the villas and gardens of Lake Como