

COMING HOME

The dream of Farfa Abbey

THE BOOK

It is the full Middle Ages. A pilgrim on his way back from Jerusalem casually saves a girl and two boys who have been kidnapped by pirates. These four travellers (together with the monkey Tobia), now friends, get involved in several adventures and magical discoveries, on their way back to Italy; after their long journey through Southern Italy and up to Rome, at last the four friends get to the place where the pilgrim is going to found his Abbey, led by a sort of "vision". The Abbey will be named Farfa.

This title is part of the FROM TREASURE TO TREASURE series.

THE AUTHOR

Tommaso di Carpegna Falconieri is a scholar and a teacher of Medieval History Studies at the University of Urbino.

He has published about one hundred essays concerning Roman and Italian society and culture during the Medieval and the Modern Age; he has also published four children's books with Mondadori.

FROM TREASURE TO TREASURE series

A collection of titles starting from real historical events, where each tale is linked to a particular object, which then becomes the protagonist of amazing adventures. Each book also includes large sized illustrations and a historically detailed section.

Text by Tommaso di Carpegna Falconieri
Illustrations by Guido Fiorato

Format: 12x21 cm

Age: 8-12

Euro 11,90

Issue: October 2007