TARABARALLA
THE TREASURE OF THE BARONESS CATERPILLAR

THE BOOK

The baroness caterpillar dreams of having gold wings to fly, but she has no treasures to barter. To realize their dreams instead, the stick insect and the water spider have put away a nice "treasure". But together they will discover that friendship is the most important and rare asset. A book designed to tell children the value of things, by"listening" to the illustrations and "watching" the music.

After a night of fantasizing
the caterpillar understood what he wanted to do:
"Tarabaralla, I want to accept
from the other insects to have their help.
With the treasures that I can give:
I'll be able to learn to fly!"

TO TALK TO THE CHILDREN ABOUT THE VALUE OF THINGS, OF DREAMS TO BE REALIZED

Series Squared stories

Illustrated books, with short and delicate stories designed for the youngsters, and with final pages of activity. A series which collects stories that tell important and difficult topics with light words.

Il bruco della farfalla baronessa sognava ali da campionessa.
Ma non aveva da parte un tesoro,
da scambiare con ali d'oro.
«Tarabaralla» si mise a cantare,
mentre pensava a come fare.
«Tarabarallalallalero,
lerolerolero là.
Tarabarallalallalero,
lerolerolero là.»

● Tr. 1

«Tarabaralla dei sì e dei no:
come farò, forse lo so..
Tarabaralla dei sì e dei no:
come farò, forse lo so...»
Pian pianino i sogni degli insetti, iniziarono in rima a esser detti.

● Tr. 4

Aveva da parte, nel grande meleto, foglie pregiate conservate in segreto.
Però non bastavano per acquistare
due belle ali da indossare…

● Tr. 8

Dopo una notte a fantasticare
il bruco capì cosa voleva fare:
«Tarabaralla, voglio accettare
dagli altri insetti di farmi aiutare.
Con i tesori che mi posson donare:
riuscirò a imparare a volare!».
