

THE INVENTION OF KUTA

The writing and the history of the handwritten book

THE BOOK

It's about a trip to discover the writing course, since its first signs to the invention of printed letters.

Eight amazing short stories by Roberto Piumini introduce the eight "historical chapters" you can find inside the book.

It's a really smart way to take the reader to discover one of the most remarkable historical inventions: the writing.

The writing history is here testified by a lot of illustrations and pictures of important findings, you can look at inside this book.

The subjects are dealt not only with the narrative style, but also with an historical scientific section inviting the reader to go into each issue thoroughly.

Narrative text by Roberto Piumini

Scientific text by Adriana Paolini

THE AUTHORS

Roberto Piumini is an internationally well-known author of several children novels, fables, screenplays, songs.

Adriana Paolini lives and works as a teacher of Latin palaeography at the University of Trento (ITALY). Besides, she holds handwriting courses and workshops by all levels schools.

THIS BOOK IS ALSO RECOMMENDED TO LIBRARIES AND SCHOOLS

Coming out: october 2009

pages : 72
Format: 17x29 cm
Age: 8-12

€ 14,90

A GREAT AUTHOR TELLS A GREAT INVENTION: WRITING

Flying tales series

It's a collection of stories aimed to let children fly on imagination's wings over cultural boundaries. Children will be so travelling among tales, myths or legends, finding out new ways of learning and living distant cultures' habits.

Other titles in the series:

- A world of different tales
- A collection of fairy tales coming from distant countries
- A world of mythical adventures
- A collection of illustrated myths and legends
- A world of fabulous tales
- A collection of illustrated classical tales
- Filippo and the others
- Bed time stories
- Long-legs tales
- Illustrated tales from far away-countries
- A dave to the heart
- Memories from a farm