

THE COURAGE OF THE SMALL ONES

A story from Kenya

A majestic antelope lived near the big river. Going home one day she heard a whistling sound coming from inside her house and a voice which said: "I eat antelopes, come inside and I'll turn you into my lunch". Petrified, she ran away and shouted to her friends one after another for help... but it was only when they were all together that they confronted the danger and solved the mystery.

Paperboard bound volumes of 24 pages in concertina format | Closed size 11,5 x 23 cm, open 138 x 23 cm
Bilingual books | Patented format | Age: 3-9 | € 9,90

Texts and series edited by Graziella Favaro

THE AUTHORS

Graziella Favaro, texts

She is a pedagogist and expert in intercultural education and the scholastic integration of immigrant children. She has also scientific responsibility for the "intercultural Education" section of INDIRE (MIUR) and is the author of numerous essays and manuals on intercultural education.

Lisa Nanni, illustrations

She is a young illustrator from the province of Pesaro, and has worked for some years as an illustrator for childrens books abroad. She was selected for the Mostra Illustratori della Fiera del libro in Bologna in 2007, 2008, 2009, for the "Ilustrarte" di Barreiro (Portogallo) exhibition in 2007.

BILINGUAL ITALIAN-SWAHILI EDITION

Series: Stories without boundaries

The bilingual Storiesconfinante series is made up of 21 stories from distant countries and has the twin objective of allowing Italian children to find out more about other worlds and cultures, as well as teaching foreign children the importance of having respect for their own country and culture of origin.

The particular format allows the book to be read in two different ways: on one side, the volume can be read as a genuine illustrated book where the story is presented in two languages. On the other side, the story is presented as one single picture 138 cm long.

Inside, there are two pages with extra information and interesting facts about the country in each story.

2003 Andersen Award:
Best informative series

Series recommended by
"Born to Read" national project